Stewardship

Contagious Stewardship

"Let your light shine before others, that they may see your good works and give glory to your Father who is in heaven."
MATTHEW 5:16

The generosity of being a good Steward of your gifts has a positive effect on people, and it is contagious! Good works encourages more good works. Generosity is a by-product of a grateful lifestyle. The more we recognize God's gifts, the more we want to share them. Good stewards recognize that God is working through them, and they don't put themselves above the people they have been called to help.

Question of the Week

LIVING IN THE LIGHT

The Word

Reading for February 8, 2026
Matthew 5:13-16

Adults:

How do you let your light shine?

We offer this form of Lectio Divina (sacred reading) for pondering Scripture and for faith sharing with family members and other people.

- Listen/ Read (Lectio): Ponder God's word and listen for what touches your heart.
- Meditate (Meditatio): Attend to what you notice. Allow God's word to resonate in you.
- Speak/Share (Oratio): Prayerfully share with Jesus or with the group your thoughts and feelings.
- Rest in God's presence (Contemplatio): Notice God's presence and be still, surrounded by God's love.
- Choose to act (Actio): Trusting in God's nearness, commit to action rooted in love.

Youth:

Whose example has brought light into your life?

Children:

What good deeds can you do at home or in school?

Congratulations on 100!

Esther Gallucci celebrated her 100th birthday surrounded by loved ones—pictured here with her son, daughter, and Fr. Titus.

Fulltime Director of Evangelization and Faith Formation Position Available

position available

The Catholic Community of Christ Our Light is seeking a Fulltime Director of Evangelization and Faith Formation

Position Summary

The Director of Evangelization and Faith Formation will provide vision, leadership, and oversight for all parish faith formation ministries, ensuring a unified, mission-driven approach to evangelization and catechesis. This role directly oversees K–6 Family Catechesis and provides leadership and supervision to the youth minister and OCIA Minister. The Director collaborates closely with parish clergy and staff to foster a culture of discipleship, family engagement, and lifelong faith formation.

Full position description on our website at www.christourlight.net.

Energy Committee Forming

Volunteers Needed

For a new committee being formed to monitor energy and utility usage across all parish buildings. The committee will look into increasing the efficiency of our energy systems and buildings, with the goal of establishing responsible levels of utility usage and cost savings for the parish. Tasks will include the review of heating and cooling equipment, lighting, hot water systems, control systems and building insulation.

Do you have a general interest or skills related to energy conservation, utility management, HVAC, or building efficiency systems? Please consider getting involved in this committee. We expect to meet around four times per year, plus on site projects.

We will have a kickoff meeting on Wednesday February 11th, 7pm in the Ministry Center Conference Room. For more information or to sign up please email Ed Watson at EG901@verizon.net

World Day of the Sick

World Day of the Sick February 11, 2026

In his message for the 34th World Day of the Sick, Pope Leo XIV reminds us that "love needs concrete gestures of closeness, through which we take on the suffering of others, especially those who are ill." He invites us to seek intercession with an ancient prayer to Mary, Mother of God and our mother.

Sweet Mother, do not part from me. Turn not your eyes away from me. Walk with me at every moment and never leave me alone. You who always protect me as a true Mother, obtain for me the blessing of the Father, the Son, and Holy Spirit.

How are you allowing the lives of others to touch your heart, so that you might help bear their pain?

February 26 at 7:30 PM Join us as we discuss The Afternoon of Christianity by Rev. Tomáš Halík. Meet in person in the Parish Center's St. John's Room, or attend via Zoom (link will be sent closer to the meeting date). Questions? Contact Tom deWolf at 856-298-0089 or tjmdewolf@gmail.com.

Book recap:

In a world transformed by secularization and globalization, torn by stark political and social distrust, and ravaged by war and the recent pandemic, Christians are facing a crisis of faith. In The Afternoon of Christianity, Father Halík reflects on past and present challenges confronting Christian faith, drawing together strands from the Bible, historic Christian theology, philosophy, psychology, and classic literature. In the process, he reveals the current crisis as a crossroads: one road leads toward division and irrelevance, while the other provides the opportunity to develop a deeper, more credible, and mature form of church, theology, and spirituality in other words: an afternoon epoch of Christianity.

Holy Hour of Eucharistic Adoration

Join us for a Holy Hour of Eucharistic Adoration on Saturday, February 21, from 10:00–11:00 AM, as we encounter the true and living presence of Jesus Christ in the Blessed Sacrament.

The Holy Hour will begin with hymns and prayer, followed by a period of silent adoration, offering a peaceful opportunity to rest in the Lord's presence.

The Holy Rosary will be prayed at 9:30 AM, following Mass, as a beautiful way to prepare our hearts for this sacred time of worship. All are welcome.

Immigration - Mixed Status Families

SUNDAY, FEB. 15-2PM MIXED STATUS FAMILIES

What happens when a US citizen is married to an undocumented spouse?

Julie Moreno shares her story about experiences she and her husband, Neftali Juarez Garcia are facing under current US immigration laws.

*American Families United (AFU) is a non-partisan 501(c)(4) non-profit, focusing on family unity in immigration by advocating for legislation like the bipartisan American Families United Act, aiming to help U.S. citizens with foreign spouses, a cause that finds support across the political spectrum. They work to gather bipartisan support, highlighting shared American values for family unity, and their proposed legislation has been introduced by members of both parties.

A Message from the Bishop - Heartbreak and horror in Minneapolis

Heartbreak and horror in Minneapolis by Bishop Joseph A. Williams

January 30, 2026 - <https://catholicstarherald.org/heartbreak-and-horror-in-minneapolis/>

I was on a mission trip in Colombia while the dramatic events in Minneapolis were unfolding. I felt somewhat helpless, being so far away, but I was connected to the events via my family's text thread.

One thing shared on that thread stayed with me. It was from my mother, who wrote, "How about as a family united in faith, hope and prayer, we each choose a fasting of our choice for one week to offer to God for our brothers and sisters in Minnesota who are enduring much spiritual, emotional and physical suffering?" I took my mother up on that offer, and I humbly invite all the faithful of South Jersey to do the same.

I cannot say everything that needs to be said about this important topic in a single column, and I know that people of goodwill – inside and outside of the Church – can disagree with details of federal immigration policy. That is why this column will be the first in a series of columns that examine this topic from different perspectives, including the perspective of our law enforcement. It is my hope that these columns will provoke a cordial and fruitful dialogue among us and, most importantly, a culture of encounter. Indeed, I believe that the only way to understand the current unrest in Minneapolis is through a culture of encounter. As such, let me share one of my experiences from my ministry in the Archdiocese of Saint Paul and Minneapolis.

Two months ago, I received a voicemail from a young adult Catholic who I have known since she was 5. Her name is Lydia, and I met her and her parents, Mario and Rosalita, during my very first days as pastor of Saint Stephen Church in south Minneapolis in 2008. Lydia is now 23, and I assumed she was calling to share the good news that she is getting married. When I spoke with her, however, I received the shocking news that her father had been detained by federal law enforcement officers as he was going to work on a cold November morning. I was stunned and deeply disturbed.

Although Mario does not have citizenship in this country, he did have a permit to work here. He also has a squeaky-clean legal record in his 20-plus years in this country. But most importantly, Mario is a wonderful human being and faithful Catholic. I knew immediately when I met him 18 years ago that there were two things that came before everything else in his life: his faith and his family. Lydia was his only daughter when I arrived at Saint Stephen, but I had the privilege of seeing three more girls born to him and his wife during my years as pastor.

I also had the joy of seeing this family every Sunday at Mass, and they didn't come to church simply to be served by the Church, but rather to serve others in the Church. I could call on Mario and Rosalita for anything: decorating the church, preparing food for our festivals and serving in our youth ministry. Eventually, Mario agreed to be the leader of our growing Confirmation program. He was diligent in his preparation and generous in his service, despite long hours at his job and a growing family. The young people he served, often from struggling immigrant families, found wisdom and fatherly counsel in his leadership. Mario is also a beloved member of the broader Minneapolis community. He is an excellent chef and has worked for years in some of the finest restaurants and steak houses in Minneapolis. Consider the tens of thousands of Twin Cities citizens who have been nourished by his delicious meals over the years!

The Church also benefited from this talent. We started a pro-life outreach to immigrant families in South Minneapolis called Sagrada Familia. Each year, Sagrada Familia would host a fundraising gala. Mario accepted to cook for several of those galas. Our benefactors – hundreds of them – were amazed at his culinary creations. It was touching to seeing how his food became a cultural bridge between the Anglo and Hispanic members of our communities.

You can imagine my sadness, then, when Mario called me on Christmas Eve day from a detention center in another state. I was heartbroken to think of him separated from his beloved family and Church at Christmas and to imagine the devastation of his girls, who were worried about their dad.

My heartbreak turned to horror this past week upon seeing the images of Alex Pretti fatally shot on Nicollet Avenue in South Minneapolis. That is within Saint Stephen's parish boundaries on a stretch of Nicollet Avenue known as "Eat Street." In fact, when I saw those images on the news, I immediately recognized that this tragedy happened right across the street from my favorite bakery where I spent many a Saturday morning preparing for my weekend. It was surreal to see a scene like this occurring again in the beloved city of my birth, so soon – and only 19 blocks – from the George Floyd tragedy.

Justice & Community Outreach

Let me be clear: I have a tremendous respect for law enforcement officials. In the weeks and months that followed the death of George Floyd, there were calls to defund the police. I was never part of that crowd. On the contrary, I always went out of my way to let police officers know that they were deeply appreciated. At Saint Stephen, we had a wonderful relationship with the Minneapolis Police Department. In fact, I would greet officers almost daily as they helped our parish and Saint Stephen Human Services keep the peace on Clinton Avenue as hundreds of meals were served Monday through Friday in our school basement to the poor of Whittier neighborhood. They also did a great job caring for us as we had our religious processions through south Minneapolis. I will always be grateful to them.

Again, I must say that I believe that the only way to understand the current unrest in Minneapolis is in the context of Mario's story and stories like his. We are being told repeatedly by certain media outlets that Mario and other undocumented like him targeted by federal law enforcement are the "worst of the worst."

That is a lie, and the people of south Minneapolis know it is a lie. As of late 2025, it has been noted in multiple news outlets that more than 70% of individuals held in Immigrations and Customs Enforcement detention do not have criminal records. Even more importantly, to the human community of south Minneapolis, Mario is a trusted neighbor, a valued coworker and a cherished member of the Catholic Church; his neighbors, coworkers and fellow parishioners protest vigorously – and we pray always peacefully – at the thought of him being torn from the fabric of their community.

Of course, some of those targeted by our federal officials are criminals and should be fully prosecuted, and even deported. Anyone who comes to this country is expected to "play by the rules" and should have profound respect for our laws – and the vast majority do.

We are being told, however, that most of the undocumented are "drug dealers, criminals and rapists." In fact, just this week, a federal leader said that "2% of the population commits 90% of the crime," associating these figures with undocumented immigrants. That is a lie, and it is a lie that fans the flames of hatred and racism in our neighborhoods and in our country.

The truth in Minnesota, for example, is that the total state prison population is around 8,000, and only 207 of them are non-citizens. This means that the criminal activity of non-documented persons is significantly less than that of documented citizens in the state.

This is consistent with study after study that indicate undocumented immigrants have lower rates of criminal activity and incarceration than both documented immigrants and native-born U.S. citizens. In fact, research analyzing crime data over the past decades shows that as the undocumented population has increased, crime rates have often declined. This is exactly what happened in the Whittier neighborhood of Minneapolis over the past 30 years!

Recently, Pope Leo was asked about the situation facing migrants in the United States. He responded, "We have to look for ways of treating people humanely; treating people with the dignity that they have. If people are in the United States illegally, there are ways to treat that. There are courts. There is a system of justice. I think there are a lot of problems in the system. No one has said that the United States should have open borders. I think every country has a right to determine who and how and when people enter. But when people are living good lives – and many of them for 10, 15 and 20 years – to treat them in a way that is extremely disrespectful, to say the least, and there's been some violence unfortunately. I think the bishops have been very clear in what they've said, and I would just invite all people in the United States to listen to them."

His Holiness was referring to a statement issued by the United States Conference of Catholic Bishops at our fall General Assembly. I will conclude this column by simply echoing what our Holy Father said, and I urge you to read that statement so that there may be peace in Minneapolis – and our great country – for all.

Editor's note: The names of the families in Minneapolis have been changed.

Confirmation Happenings

Meet Casey -

For me, I really would like to be confirmed because being confirmed makes me feel like I've taken another grand step to be fully enlightened with God. Also, because as I've recently gotten caught up with my first confession. Along with my first holy communion. Confirmation is the last step towards being fully Catholic.

I will continue to serve as a Catholic in this world by: volunteering with YFF - Feed My Starving Children.

I will continue to help those in need whenever I can.

Now for the parish -

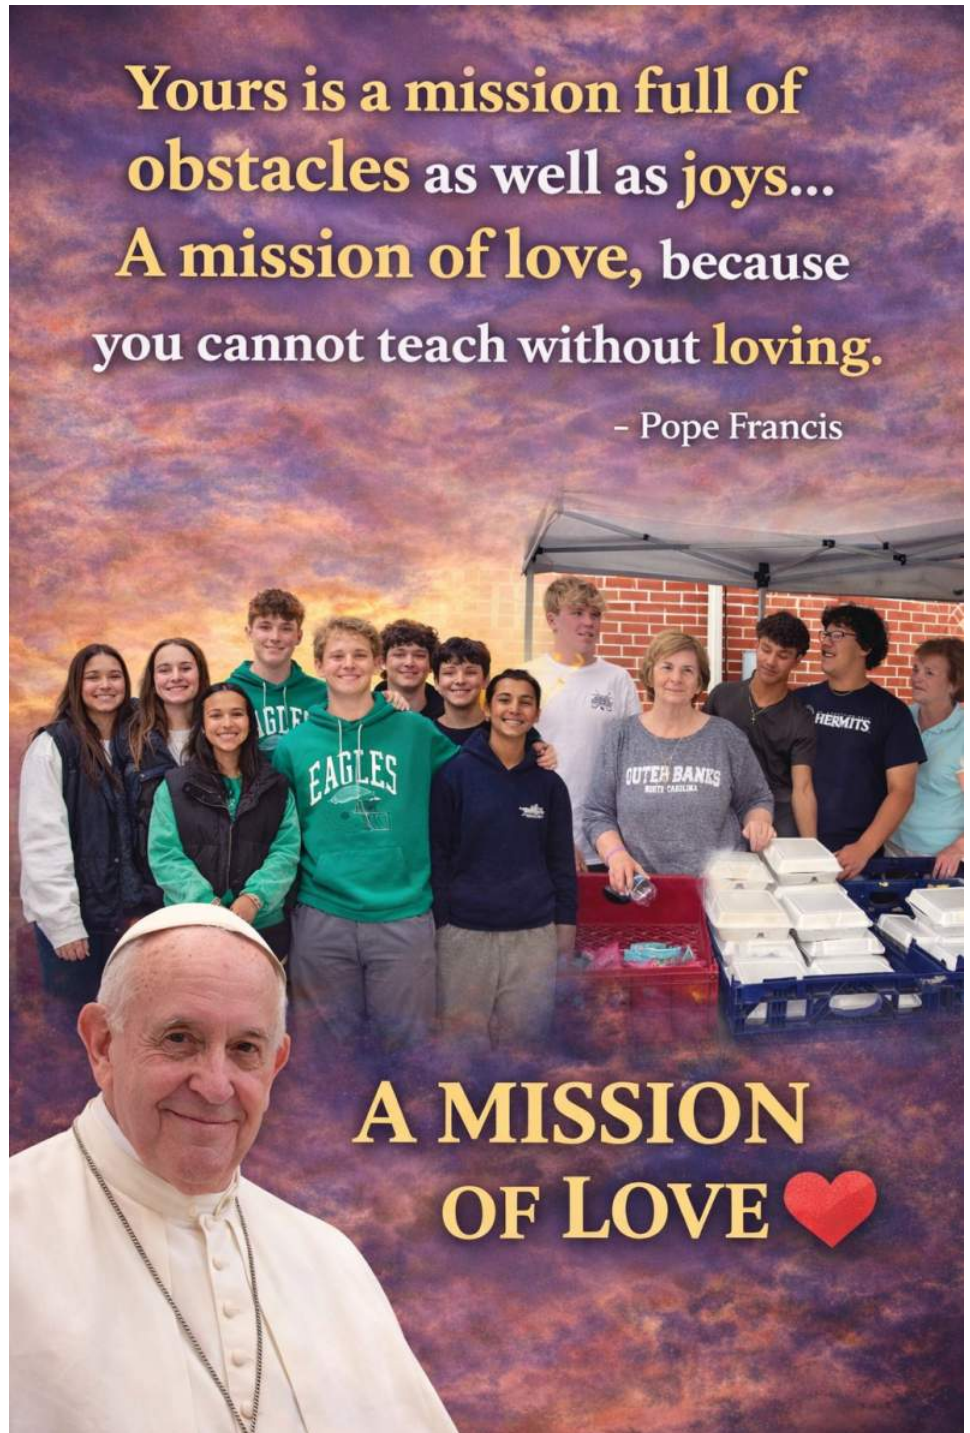

I will always bring all my friends to the youth group.

I will continue to use the bible app to learn about the verse of the day. It was brought up to me during one of the religion groups on Tuesday's.

It helped me remind myself that God is here with me. I also will keep praying to myself at night and during the day to talk to god and to thank him for all he has done for me.

Now as more of a daily routine goal, I want to start posting online a little bit about the gospel and bible verses of the day/week.

(Casey Davis)

Celebrating our Parish

"What a way to truly kick off Catholic Schools Week by 'Celebrating our Parish!' Not only did our wonderful K.O.C.A. host a delicious Pancake breakfast yesterday, but our Student and Family Mass was brimming with smiles and families worshipping together.

Our Open House was also a hit, with lots of welcoming Tour Guides and familiar faces introducing our halls. To top it off basketball and cheerleading filled the gymnasium with School Spirit! Here's to a wonderful week here at RCS!

Did you miss the Open House, but are still interested in exploring Resurrection Catholic School for your child? Please reach out to Mrs. Shannon Bianco anytime for a Private Tour or to inquire about admissions. Contact her at Advancement@rcscherryhill.com or call 856-667-2024, ext. 253 TODAY!"

Professional Photographer Needed

Are you a parishioner who works as a professional photographer? We are in need of volunteers to take photographs at a few special parish events throughout the year, such as First Communion, the Parish Picnic, the Parish Appreciation Dinner, special liturgies, and concerts. If you have these skills, a camera, and a willingness to serve the parish by photographing one or more of these events, please call the Parish Office.
